New Tools At Machine Shop

The capacity of the Wrangell Machine Shop has been increased heretofore they were equipped with a 40 inch by 18 foot Fay & Scott machine lathe, blacksmith forge and accessories, a brass furnace and a grinding machine. This week they have installed a 22 inch Barnes power drill press, a 13 inch by 6 foot Sebastian machine lathe and a 16 by 24 Steptoe shaper. As industrial progress depends on scientific study of the best process of manufacture, the proprietors of the Wrangell Machine Shop have constantly and carefully studied the best and most effective mode of operations, also the particular kind of machinery that was most suited for their growing business, they have left no stone unturned but have taken everything minutely into consideration, now with the modern equipment, proper arrangement of their plant, ample power, space and light, they are ready to turn out any kind of a machine job, great or small. The handicap that was previously placed upon them thus removed and with their modern appliances and labor saving machinery, their prices, hereafter, will compare favorably with those of Puget Sound. This is progressiveness. And Wrangell still grows.

Hunters Have Poor Luck

Last week the Karen took a party consisting of Harry Gartley, E. E. Noble, K. Johansen, H. Coulter and Leo. McCormack, to the flats on a duck hunt. They didn't break the record but they were storm bound behind High Island for four days, they say the waves were rolling so high that the Karen was doing the submarine act. They have not decided which one of the party was the Jonah; sh-h-h methinks Leo knows.

We are introducing now, for the first time in Wrangell the famous FLEISCHMAN YEAST which is a fresh yeast and is acknowledged as far superior to all other products in this line. The company have their own agencies in all the large cities where they distribute the yeast to their customers every day. But it is now found that it will keep good for as long as twenty days if kept cool and is giving very satisfactory results in the Alaska trade. Fleischman's Yeast is in good condition as long as it keeps firm, but when it is pulled up in the tinfoil and is soft it is spoiled. The company makes good any spoiled yeast on the return of the tinfoil and labels. This yeast makes bread in two hours. Price 2 cakes for 5cents. We get it fresh twice a week. Call and leave your standing order, Call first for sample if you have not tried it already.

EDITORIAL

'Every editor of newspapers pay tribute to the devil.'

'LaFontaine'

AMBITION is to the mind what the cap is to the falcon; it blinds us at first, and then compels us to tower; by reason of our blindness. But, alas! when we are at the summit of a vain ambition, we are also at the depth of real misery. We are placed where time cannot improve but must impair us; in short, in attaining all we wish, and gaining all we want, we have only reached a pinnacle where we have nothing to hope and everything to fear. Virtue and talents, though allowed their due consideration, yet are not enough to procure a man a welcome wherever he comes. Nobody contents himself with rough diamonds, or wears them so. When polished and set, then they give lustre. Every man has two educations—that which is given to him, and the other, that which he gives himself. Of the two kinds, the latter is by far the most valuable. Indeed all that is most worthy in man, he must work out and conquer for himself. It is that, that constitutes our real and true enrichment. What we are merely taught, seldom nourishes the mind like that which we teach ourselves. It shall be our policy to act with common sense, according to the moment, take the world as it comes and submit respectfully to our lot, we are not here to serve out any petty prejudice through the columns of this paper nor to take advantage of another's misfortune, generally we are more inclined to dislike one another for the points on which we differ, than to like one another for the points on which we agree. The reason is perhaps this: When we find others that agree with us, we seldom trouble ourselves to confirm that agreement; but when we chance on those that differ with us, we are zealous both to convince, and to convert them. Our pride is hurt by the failure, and disappointed pride, engenders dislike. Our policy is to run this paper with the interests of the community at heart and to help in the up-building and betterment of our town by forever boosting it and not let outsiders forget that Wrangell is still on the way, and going forward with rapid strides.

TECHNICALLY, a middle man is one who stands between the producer and the consumer. Most of the people who use the expression regard a 'middleman' as an animated example of lost motion and a specimen of economic slack. Some people declare that advertising is an economic waste, they say the cost of advertising is always counted in and added to the value of the article, and is paid for by the ultimate consumer, they imagine that by eliminating advertising the cost of the article to the consumer would be much reduced. To this argument we make no exception, but to the assumption that all advertising is economic waste a demurrer must be here entered.

Advertising is telling who you are, where you are located, and what you have to offer the community in the way of services or commodity. If nobody knows who you are, or what you have to offer you do no business, and the community is the loser through giving you absent treatment. Life is too short to the consumer to employ detectives to ferret out merchants who have the necessities of life to sell. People who want to buy things do not catch the seller, chloroform him and cram orders into his pocket. Parties who want milk should not seat themselves on a stool back on the muskeg by the saw-mill pond in hopes that one of the dairy cows will back up to them.

the preacher who preaches the word of God to us, the lecturer who informs us, the musician who entertains us, the writer who inspires us and the lawyer who keeps us out of trouble, are all middlemen.

Civilization is a great system of transfer. Each one does the thing he can do best and works for the good of all. It should be all for each and each for all. So any man who does a needed service for humanity should be honored, we are not looking for any bouquets but the necessary is the worthy, and the useful is the sacred. We are part and parcel of each other, but a little of the kindly glue of human brotherhood is greatly needed to fasten us together. The Sentinel is the organ of publicity for this community, it is the middleman. Why not co-operate with us? It is essential that we should have your support.

In President Wilson's message to Congress he has not forgotten us, his plea for the unlocking and the imperative needs of Alaska is certainly a bit of encouraging news for all Alaskans.

The time has come when congress has to take notice of our great needs. Alaska has discharged her debt to the nation many times over and we are entitled to all we get.

Alaska has been regarded as a mere possession long enough and it is about time the obligations due us should be discharged. The resources of our territory have been locked up and laying dormant while our trustees back in Washington, evidently a bunch of boneheads, have been going just as they please with us, but with the present administration the tide has turned and as President Wilson says in his message:

'A pressing duty faces us with regard to Alaska which seems to me very pressing and very imperative. The Alaska people should be given full territorial form of government. It is a great storehouse and should be unlocked. One key to it is system of railroads. We must use the resources of the country and not lock them up. They are part of the domain of public conscience and of servicable and enlightened statesmanship. We must administer them for a people who live in them, and with the same sense of responsibility to them as towards our own people in our domestic affairs.'

We quite agree with the President the resources of Alaska were left for common heritage, and should be free to her people.

It appears to be sixes with the two forces in Mexico as far as wanton cruelty and outrage is concerned. Americans have been constantly shuddering at atrocities committed by the federales, but it appears that Carranza's men are no better than the federales. Neither side has anything on the other in the cruelty line, they are the same low contemptible skulking uncivilized Greasers, who take a special delight in torturing their defenceless captives. We have always known what Hureta's men were; Carranzas are the same, nothing but a band of semi-bandits that swoop down upon ranches and villages, rob, burn, torture and outrage in wantonness of their own depravity. They certainly showed their hand when they captured Juarez. Mexicans will be Mexicans we cannot expect anything from a pig but a grunt.

All roads lead to the rink.
